Description

The Department of Philosophy and Cultural Heritage at Ca' Foscari University Venice invites applications for a fellowship in:

Title: Vulnerability in international protection regimes. The issue of human trafficking.

Scientific Disciplinary Sectors and/or Competition Sector Groups: SPS/08-Sociology of culture and communication

Scientific Responsible tutor: prof. Sabrina Marchetti

Duration: 12 months (renewable)

Abstract: The research is part of the HORIZON2020-MIGRATION-07-2019 project "VULNER: Vulnerabilities under the global protection regime: how does the law assess, address, shape, and produce the vulnerabilities of protection seekers?" The aim of the project is a critical analysis of the concept of vulnerability, of the meaning and practices associated with it from the social, political and legal point of view. The VULNER research will focus on the case of "protection seekers" in Belgium, Germany, Italy, Norway, Canada, Lebanon, Uganda and South Africa.

The fellowship research fulfils Work Package 10 of the project, concerning the issue of trafficking for all the countries involved in the project. The research entails gathering materials prepared by the national teams for their countries, and providing an interpretative analysis of such collection of data. It will be particularly relevant to look at it in a gender and intersectional perspective. Essential to the research is also the dissemination of project's results to specialist and non-specialist audiences, including policy-makers and stakeholders, in collaboration with the rest of the Italian team (Work Package 4).
