Description

The Department of Management at Università Ca' Foscari Venezia invites application for one-year post-doc fellowship in Partnerships between museums and companies: an urban regeneration model for sustainable tourism, under the supervision of prof. Francesco Casarin (SECS-P/08 - Management).

Abstract: The research activity takes into consideration the role of partnerships between museums and companies to understand how the museum can transfer value by becoming a promoter of urban regeneration also with a view to digital development for sustainable tourism (Orea-Giner, De- Pablos-Heredero, and Vacas Guerrero, 2021). We intend to analyze what partnership experiences have been developed to date and, on this basis, to outline which projects with repercussions on territorial sustainability can be implemented. The goal is to provide a scalable partnership model from a dimensional and thematic point of view, potentially applicable to any museum. Significant managerial implications derive from this for the establishment of new museum business and urban development models, based on innovative partnerships capable of providing positive results not only in the tourism and cultural sectors, but also in the sustainability of the reference territories.

The research shall be carried out in Italian and English language. The fellowship is intended to provide the successful candidate with the opportunity to pursue his/her own research while benefiting from the range of expertise at Università Ca' Foscari Venezia.
