Description

The Department of Environmental Sciences, Informatics and Statistics at Università Ca' Foscari Venezia invites applications for fellowship in:

TITLE: Modelling biogeochemical processes and assessment of the impacts of ship-borne emissions on coastal aquatic ecosystems

SSD: CHIM/12

Tutor: Prof. Antonio Marcomini – Roberto Pastres

Duration: 12 months

Abstract: Modelling of biogeochemical processes to assess the effects of shipping emissions on coastal aquatic ecosystems and elaboration of results to support the identification of the best emission control strategies in future scenarios.

The research may be carried out in English. The fellowship is intended to provide the successful candidate with the opportunity to pursue his/her own research while benefiting from the range of expertise at Università Ca' Foscari Venezia.

Who can apply

Prospective candidates are expected to hold a master's degree MSc Environmental Sciences, Environmental Engineering or related areas or equivalent foreign qualification or related disciplines. Preferred qualification: PhD in Environmental Science/Engineering on topics related to the title of the research

Ca' Foscari encourages applications from researchers with positive evaluation in all the criteria in individual proposals such as Marie Skłodowska Curie Actions - Individual Fellowships/ERC Starting Grants/FIRB (Italian Fund for basic research investments)/SIR (Scientific Young Independence Research) or similar.

Researchers having successfully completed Marie Skłodowska Curie Actions - Individual Fellowships/ERC Starting Grants/FIRB (Italian Fund for basic research investments)/SIR (Scientific Young Independence Research) or similar funded projects are warmly encouraged to apply.

Duration of contract: 12 months, approximately starting: October 2022

Stipend: The research fellowship amounts to 23.367,00 Euros per year, including taxes and social charges.
