Description

The Department of Management at Università Ca' Foscari Venezia invites application for one-year fellowship in Work organisation and technological innovation: the role of labour regulation and collective bargaining, under the supervision of Gaetano Zilio Grandi (IUS-07 – Labour Law).

Abstract:

This research project intends to reflect on the organisation of work and its transformations in the current technological context, with a labour law perspective. Technological innovation, in fact, entails transformations of work and its organisation, requiring, for example, the development of new ways of performing work, complex skills and flexible tasks, which can also be determined by artificial intelligence at work. The research intends to investigate how labour regulation will change in the so-called 4.0 enterprise, specifically focusing on two issues: a reinterpretation of the 'traditional' relationship between professionalism, labour relations and organisation, and an attempt to define the innovative regulation of the relationship between employer, worker and artificial intelligence.

The research may be carried out in Italian language. The fellowship is intended to provide the successful candidate with the opportunity to pursue his/her own research while benefiting from the range of expertise at Università Ca' Foscari Venezia.

Who can apply

Prospective candidates are expected to hold a master's degree in LMG/01 (Giurisprudenza), or LM-56 (Scienze dell'economia), or LM-77 (Scienze economico-aziendali) and scientific-professional curriculum suitable to the development of research activities related to the fellowship.

Ca' Foscari encourages applications from researchers with positive evaluation in all the criteria in individual proposals such as Marie Skłodowska Curie Actions - Individual Fellowships/ERC Starting Grants/FIRB (Italian Fund for basic research investments)/SIR (Scientific Young Independence Research) or similar. Researchers having successfully completed Marie Skłodowska Curie Actions - Individual Fellowships/ERC Starting Grants/FIRB (Italian Fund for basic research investments)/SIR (Scientific Young Independence Research) or similar funded projects are warmly encouraged to apply.
