Description

The Department of Management at Università Ca' Foscari Venezia invites application for one-year fellowship in Business and Government Interactions: a network perspective, under the supervision of prof. Francesco Zirpoli (SECS-P/08 – Management/ ECON-07/A - Management).

Abstract: The project's main objective is to explore the formation of policy decisions in contexts characterized by strong conflicts of interest. Through an integrated methodological approach that combines qualitative and quantitative methods, such as Social Network Analysis (SNA) and content analysis of documents, it aims to gain an in-depth understanding of the relational dynamics that influence the achievement of specific decisions. This involves exploring both the formal and informal aspects of the networks of relationships among the various actors involved. A possible empirical arena for conducting the analysis is legislative decision-making within European legislative institutions, which are specifically designed to balance potentially conflicting interests.

The research may be carried out in Italian and English.

The fellowship is intended to provide the successful candidate with the opportunity to pursue his/her own research while benefiting from the range of expertise at Università Ca' Foscari Venezia.

Who can apply

Prospective candidates are expected to hold a master's degree and scientific-professional curriculum suitable to the development of research activities related to the fellowship.

Ca' Foscari encourages applications from researchers with positive evaluation in all the criteria in individual proposals such as Marie Skłodowska Curie Actions - Individual Fellowships/ERC Starting Grants/FIRB (Italian Fund for basic research investments)/SIR (Scientific Young Independence Research) or similar.
