abstract:

The research activities are the following:

1. Release of data on educational services for children to assess the impact of the various planned and implemented measures for the development and consolidation of the integrated education and training system pursuant to legislative decree n. 65 of 13 April 2017. The timing of the ISTAT survey "Nurseries and supplementary services for early childhood" will be adapted to the monitoring needs through the strengthening of resources and the consequent anticipation of data dissemination times with respect to what is foreseen in the National Statistics Program.

With regard to this first objective, the scholarship holder will have to work closely with ISTAT personnel, supporting and making his own contribution to the realization of the annual survey on educational services for children. The fellow will also be the connecting element between ISTAT and the Ca' Foscari Department of Economics that will maintain the scientific responsibility for the work and will guide the operations of the scholarship holder.

2. Recognition of the reference legislation for the activation of local and national policies on services for children. Recognition of national, regional and provincial interventions to support the use by families of educational services for early childhood (for example the asylum bonus, contributions for the attendance of nursery schools by Regions and Provinces). Acquisition of quantitative data on national, regional and provincial interventions. Ad hoc analysis on some particular measures, such as bonus, aimed at investigating the characteristics of the beneficiaries and their territorial context.

3. Consolidation and expansion of a system of indicators useful for monitoring the development of educational services for early childhood. Analysis of data on policies for educational services for early childhood at national, regional and local level
