DECREES

Article 1 Public Selection Procedure Announcement

The following public selection procedure is announced for the award of a research contract, lasting two years, pursuant to Article 22 of Law No. 240 of December 30, 2010, Academic recruitment field 14/GSPS-08 (Economic Sociology, Sociology of work, urban and environmental Sociology), Academic discipline GSPS-08/A (Economic Sociology and Sociology of work and organizations):

The research contract includes collaboration on the research projects QWoRe (Quality of Work in Residential long-term care services in Italy: determinants and strategies, PRIN 2022 PNRR) and Why-So-Poor? (The social determinants of low-wage labour in the Italian tourism industry, PNRR Young Researchers), as well as the development of additional research activities on related topics.

QWoRe. The Covid-19 pandemic exposed the structural problems of the residential care sector for people with high dependency needs. In the face of increasingly complex needs among residents, services are characterized by critical working and organizational conditions. These issues affect the physical and mental well-being and dignity of workers, as well as the continuity and quality of care provided. The project aims to achieve four main objectives by integrating multidisciplinary approaches, qualitative and quantitative methodologies, and co-production of knowledge with stakeholders: (1) To develop an innovative analytical framework; (2) To contextualize job quality in long-term residential care (LTC) services in Italy through the analysis of secondary quantitative data and the study of sector regulation; (3) To investigate the experiences of care workers in three Italian regions, identifying configurations of working conditions associated with different levels of job quality; (4) To study the mechanisms influencing job quality through six organizational case studies. Sharing the results with the scientific community and stakeholders will help structure the field of study and identify context-sensitive strategies for the sustainability of the sector and the well-being of both care workers and the elderly they assist.

Why-So-Poor? At the international level, the tourism sector is characterized by precarious employment, low wages, and difficult working conditions. Conventional explanations attribute these conditions to the economic and organizational features of the sector, such as seasonality, the high prevalence of micro and small enterprises, intense competition, and a fragmented entrepreneurial structure. From this perspective, low wages and poor job quality are seen as the result of the sector's inherent economic weakness—perceived as naturally low-value, unstable, and difficult to regulate. The Why-So-Poor project challenges this view, arguing that tourism work is not inherently “poor,” but has been socially constructed as such through a range of historical, social, and political factors. Through a multi-site qualitative study conducted in three Italian regions, the project aims to achieve three main objectives: (1) To analyze the historical, social, and institutional mechanisms that have produced and legitimized the devaluation of tourism work, with particular attention to the composition and social reproduction of the workforce; (2) To investigate the everyday experiences of male and female workers in order to understand how these mechanisms translate, at the local level, into conditions of precarity, low pay, and lack of recognition; (3) To develop an innovative theoretical framework on the social determinants of low-wage work, capable of going beyond monocausal economic-organizational explanations.

- Up to 60 points for the evaluation of the CV, including overall scientific productivity and research activities carried out at public and private organizations, to be evaluated with particular reference to the relevance to the research project content; scientific publications and other documentable research products, with particular reference to the relevance to the research project content.
- Up to 40 points for the evaluation of the oral exam to verify research aptitude and any assessment of foreign languages requested in the call.

The evaluation procedure takes place in two stages:

Preliminary assessment:

The Commission determines the criteria for evaluating the CV, publications, and oral exam. The adopted criteria and the content of the oral exam are published on the Official University Register and online on the University website.

Only after defining the criteria, they may review the applications and, they proceed with the comparative evaluation of candidates based on the CV and publications, having verified the absence of incompatibility and conflict of interest by each member.

On September 11th, 2025, the results of the evaluation are communicated online on the University webpage about the call, indicating the candidates who have exceeded the minimum threshold of 42 points and are therefore admitted to the oral exams that will take place on September 16th, 2025, at 9:00 a.m. Italian time (Rome CET), via Zoom

Candidates admitted are required to attend the meeting, without prior notice, on the day, time, and according to the modalities provided in the notice. Failure to appear will be considered as an explicit and definitive withdrawal from the selection.

Oral Exam:

The second stage consists of the oral exam.

Admitted candidates are required to attend the meeting with a valid identification document.

The oral exam is deemed passed if the minimum threshold of 28 points is reached.

The Commission places the candidates with a final score above the minimum threshold of 70/100 in a merit list and declares the comparatively best candidate the winner.
In case of tie, priority will be given to the youngest candidate.

Article 8 Validity of the proceedings

The proceedings of the Board are attested in the minutes of the meetings with attached evaluation forms as per Annex 2 of the Regulation. They are transmitted to the Director of the Department by the Chair or Secretary of the Board within 7 days from the conclusion of the works for verification and approval.

The approval decree of the Director is published on the Official University register and online on the University website.

The recruitment of the holder of the research contract is effected through the conclusion of a fixed-term employment contract. Failure on the part of the person concerned to conclude the contract by the deadline shall be considered as renunciation of employment and shall result in the forfeiture of the ranking list, without prejudice to a possible extension of the deadline for the signing of the contract assessed by the Director of the Structure upon justified request of the person concerned.

If circumstances preventing employment arise, whether normative, organizational, or financial, this University reserves the right not to proceed with employment or to defer it.
