Description

The Venice School of Management – Ca’ Foscari University of Venice, as specified in the introduction, hereby calls for applications for the research grant:

- Title “The Role of Accelerators in the Process of Entrepreneurial Identity Formation in Start-ups within the Cultural and Creative Sectors” lasting 2 (two) months.

The Research Scholar must perform the following research:

ABSTRACT

This study investigates the cognitive and communicative dynamics that characterize the early stages of entrepreneurial development in the cultural and creative sectors, analyzing how founders construct the meaning of their venture and communicate it to ecosystem stakeholders. The creation of a start-up is interpreted as a process of identity construction, in which sense-making and sense-giving continuously intertwine.

The study specifically focuses on the role of accelerators, understood as key contexts for learning and validation, where pitching, mentoring, and interactions with investors prompt founders to translate their vision into credible entrepreneurial proposals. Through an iterative process of adaptation and redefinition, these interactions contribute to the formation of a more stable and recognizable entrepreneurial identity.

GOALS

Map and classify accelerators active in the cultural and creative industries (CCIs), analyzing their organizational characteristics, intervention models, and target startups.

Analyze how acceleration programs—specifically pitch sessions, mentoring, and investor interactions— influence the sense-making and sense-giving processes of the founders.

EXPECTED OUTPUTS

A typology of accelerators within the cultural and creative sector (e.g., generalist vs. vertical, market-oriented vs. cultural mission-oriented) and the key support mechanisms they offer (mentoring, pitching, networking, access to funding).

Identification of how acceleration programs and their related mechanisms shape the narratives, business models, and positioning of cultural and creative startups, leading to a preliminary understanding of how these programs contribute to the construction of a coherent, legitimized, and recognizable entrepreneurial identity.

The Scholar must provide the School with the following research output:

- a Final report on the research for the unique two-month period carried out by the end of the assignment, approved by the tutor, which will be presented to the Board/ Council of the School.

This documentation is by way of example and not exhaustive and may change or be implemented according to the needs of the research activity concerning the project and/or the structure that calls for the research grant.

Duration of the Short-Research Fellowship:

“The Role of Accelerators in the Process of Entrepreneurial Identity Formation in Start-ups within the Cultural and Creative Sectors”: 2 (two) months, expected to start by April 2026.

Amount of the Research Grant

The total short-term research fellowship is € 3.686,64, gross recipient and will be subject to taxation according to the regulations in force. It will be paid in a single instalment, at the conclusion of the assignment, after the certification of the proper performance of the activity. The amount awarded is understood to include any costs relating to the undertaking of the research envisaged by the project.

The monthly fee will be recognized and paid only in case of completion of the whole month; otherwise, the fee related to the non-completed month will not be paid.
