

Ca' Foscari
School of International Relations

Ca' Foscari
University of Venice

Department of Economics

This PISE lecture will focus on the US presidential election and, in particular, on two aspects that are characterizing the electoral campaign: the role of religion, and human rights.

Rosemarie Brisciana (Sciences Po, Paris) is an expert of American politics. She has also worked for the French Minister of Foreign Affairs and at the Paris IV university. She has participated in many conferences and seminars as a guest speaker to discuss the American Political system

PISE Lecture

Introduction

Sara De Vido

Ca' Foscari University of Venice

Rosemarie Brisciana

Sciences Po, Paris

The Role of Religion and Human Rights Discourse in this Unusual 2016 United States Election

October 10, 2 p.m.
Aula Baratto