at least 1 horizontal priority OR at least 1 specific priority relevant to the field of education which is mostly impacted

Some Horizontal priorities:

- Developing skills (entrepreneurship, forward-looking skills, computer skills...). Promotion of interdisciplinary co-operation in science, technology, engineering, arts and maths (STE(A)M fields); new approaches to teaching and assessing transversal skills;

- Better use of ICT in learning, teaching at all levels.

Digital integration and promotion of access to and learning through Open Educational Resources (OER);

- Training the trainers: professional development of educators, innovative teaching and learning assessment, link education-research-innovation;

- Helping to develop a European Area of Skills and Qualifications: mutual recognition, bridges between formal, informal and nonformal Learning...

Summary

- Soils are the basis for plant production and provide numerous ecosystem services. Many human activities are affecting the soil conditions in several ways. Effects like soil compaction, degradation, acidification and salt accumulation restrain the basic requirements for plant production and thus food supply for humans.
- The overall objective is to provide an interdisciplinary international activity under the title “Educational Network on Soil and Plant Ecology and Management”.

The whole activity is divided into four work packages (WP):

- WP1: Summer School „Soil & Water“
- WP2: The partners will continue the summer school "Soil & Water" as a jointly managed teaching module and agree on a list of automatically accepted modules for regular exchange student exchange between all partners.
- WP3: Enhancing teaching and networking potential for teachers
- WP4: Transposing the educational network into future research and teaching activities.
- The project aims to provide a teaching standard for a European wide perspective from the expertise of the consortium (see below) integrating humid, intermediate and dry Mediterranean environments. This approach is a novelty at the European level.

Outputs:

O1 Unified distance learning web interface

It is a web-based software which enables to access online labs running the Virtualized simulation models (O2).

Università
Ca' Foscari
Venezia

O2 Virtualized simulation models

Virtualized simulation models are simulated software experiments for common mechatronics situation and processes needed for ICT and mechatronic practical experimentation.

In engineering education the basic 3D models can be converted into “intelligent” simulation models by modern simulation tools. For example PLC (Programmable Logic Controller) programming exercises can be carried out by using simulation models instead of real machines.

The same idea can be applied to almost every study course. Practical learning becomes more controllable (larger groups), more effective (less dead time), more economic and safer.

By this output we offer Siemens PLC and open software based simulation model for mechatronic experimentation.

O3 Curriculum module

Curriculum module is a modular unit unified for general mechatronic, ICT or other engineering curricula.

The module is developed in an open architecture that enables it easily to integrate into existing study process in different levels of education.

.... The module is suitable also for universities and school education learners.

This output provides educational frame for previous software and hardware solutions.
