

New Books

in Environmental Humanities

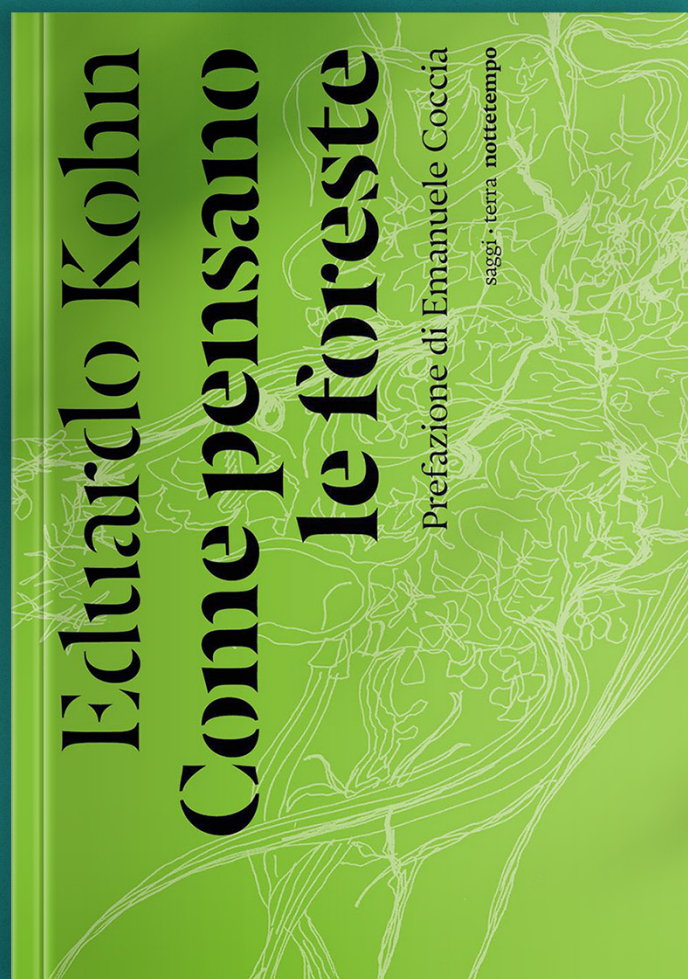

2024

Ca' Foscari
University of Venice

THE NEW INSTITUTE

Centre for Environmental Humanities (NICHE)
at Ca' Foscari
University of Venice

Come pensano le foreste.

Per un'antropologia
oltre l'umano

Eduardo Kohn

McGill University

7 March
h 17:30

Chair:
Valentina Bonifacio
Ca' Foscari University
of Venice

Francesca Tarocco
NICHE Director
Ca' Foscari University
of Venice

Do forests think? And why, in the Ávila forest, do dogs dream? In this startling book, Eduardo Kohn challenges the very foundations of anthropology, questioning basic assumptions about what it means to be human, and for that matter distinct from all other life forms.

The event will be held in English language.

Ca' Bottacin,
First floor

Dorsoduro 3911
Calle Crosera, Venice

Full info on:
unive.it/data/33113/26/84515