

Ca' Foscari
University of Venice

Department of Asian and North African Studies

Virtual lecture series

CRITICAL PERSPECTIVES ON ANIMALS AND COLONIALISM

Organized and moderated by Alexandra Isfahani-Hammond (University of California, San Diego) and Federica Timeto (Ca' Foscari University of Venice), in collaboration with the Environmental Humanities Degree, Ca' Foscari University of Venice

March 7, 2025 - 6.00 p.m. CET

Irus Braverman (The State University of New York), The New Jewish Shepherd: The Great Battle of Pastorship in Area C of the Israeli-Occupied West Bank

April 15, 2025 - 5.30 p.m. CET (also in person at CFZ Zattere, Venice)

Tamar Novick (Technical University of Munich), Milk and Honey: Technologies of Plenty in the Making of a Holy Land

April 24, 2025 1.00 a.m. CET

Hiroshi Yasui (National Institutes for the Humanities and Doshisha University), Animal Politics and The Rise of Vegan Nationalism in Israel: A Critical Examination of the "Animal Nationalism" Framework

May 8, 2025 - 10.30 a.m. CET

Esther Tordjmann (Alloun) (University of New South Wales), Intersectionality in Conflict: Reflecting on the Affective Geographies, Politics and Practices of Shared Struggles Across Difference

May 23, 2025 - 6.00 p.m. CET

Claire Jean Kim (University of California, Irvine), Fighting for Animals in an Anti-Black World

The lectures are free and open to all (upon registration). For further information and registration